Days of the week...

Although the names of the days of the week are amongst the most commonly used words in the English language, not many people are aware of the fascinating origin of these names. They go back to the earliest times, and remind us of our pagan past.

The Greeks named the days of the week after the sun, the moon and the five planets known to them: which were in turn named after their gods Ares, Hermes, Zeus, Aphrodite and Cronus. They were called by the Greeks "the days of the gods".

The Romans also used the sun and the moon, but substituted their equivalent gods for the Greek gods: Mars, Mercury, Jove (Jupiter), Venus and Saturn.

The names we use today are based on the Germanic names for roughly similar gods to those of the Romans – Tiu, Woden, Thor, and Freya. Interestingly, they retained the name "Saturn" for the seventh day of the week.

Therefore, meanings of the names of the days of the week are:

Sunday: the day of the sun

Monday: the day of the moon

Tuesday: Tius day – Tiu (or Tiw) was the Germanic god of war and the sky

Wednesday: Woden's day – Woden was the chief god, "the leader of the wild hunt"

Thursday: Thor's day – "thunders day" – Thor was the god of thunder, and is represented as riding a chariot drawn by goats, and wielding a hammer

Friday: Freya's day – Freya was the Teutonic goddess of love and beauty, identified with the Norse god of the same name, the leader of the Valkeries

Saturday: Saturn's day – Saturn was the Roman god of agriculture, believed to have ruled the earth during an age of happiness and virtue

So, next time you use the names of the days of the week, remember their origins back in our ancient history.

HERITAGE INSPIRED is supported by the Heritage Lottery Fund. We work with partner sites to promote their social, architectural and cultural heritage. We produce interpretation leaflets and publicity, organise events and activities and support volunteers. If you would like to be involved we would love to hear from you.

Would you like heritage INSPIRED! FREE to your door?

Or could you receive it by email (saving us money for other projects and activities)?

If so (or if you want to be removed from our list), please contact us.

Please check our website for details of some of the special events taking place - www.heritageinspired.org.uk

SHEFFIELD CATHEDRAL GUIDEBOOK

A new Guide Book of Sheffield's oldest and most historic building is now available following months of development by the Friends and volunteers of the Cathedral. The guidebook is beautifully illustrated with images of the many facets and features of the building which still hold significant historic value today.

Funding for the creation of the Guide Book came from the Heritage Lottery Fund with support from the Friends of Sheffield Cathedral. It has been designed and published by HERITAGE INSPIRED, and is available from the Cathedral Reception for just £3.50 each or via HERITAGE INSPIRED for £4 (including p&p) or on amazon.com!

The money raised from the sale of the book will enable future work of this kind to be developed and updated in the future.

We are also working on new interpretative panels and leaflets for the Cathedral, and the development of a new welcoming area for visitors - so watch this space!!

HERITAGE INSPIRED DESIGN

We have extensive experience of designing guidebooks, leaflets, interpretative panels and publicity materials for heritage faith sites.

Unfortunately we have to charge for our design services (as part of our match funding for our HLF grant) but you can be sure that our charges are very reasonable, being much lower than many graphic designers. If you would like to talk to us about any kind of graphic design work for your site please get in touch!

FREE LEAFLETS

Ever wanted more information about the heritage of a particular site?

59 of our partners have produced new free leaflets, highlighting the hidden gems to be seen when you visit.

They can be picked up at the site in question and used to guide you around. They can also be downloaded from our website, and perused before you go!

Make sure you look out for them next time you visit!

can you help?

Would you like to be involved in fun activities, helping HERITAGE INSPIRED to promote your local site. From managing the project, to helping prepare for events, to making to tea for volunteers - there is a role for everyone who would like to be involved. We also offer work placements to students and anyone wanting to get back into work or just looking for an excellent addition to your CV.
